DAVIS, VERAAC, DEBROU, MICHIELS

1248-
With reference to P.H. (C. Camp's) memorandum
FP.600,543/S.I.D./R.B. dated 30.11.44, the photograph of Anton van der WILDE was shown to DAVIS, VERAAC, DEBROU and MICHIELS with the following results:-

DAVIS thought the photograph might be that of a Dutchman named SCHREFFER or Van der Ruffe. This man was working for a Dutch Underground organisation but was unscrupulous, extracting money from men in hiding for his own use. He had no connection with the Germans. DAVIS knew him for six or seven months and then, when he found out what he was doing, denounced him to the Abwehr, as a result of which he was arrested. SCHREFFER is now, DAVIS thinks, a prisoner-of-war in Germany as an ex-member of the Dutch army. His home is at Schiedam, Lorenplein 4, near Rotterdam.

DAVIS stated categorically that the photograph was not that of de WILDE, whose face was much rounder.

VERAAC did not recognise the face. He stated that he had already been shown the photograph by an officer at Kinderoven.

DEBROU did not recognise the face. When asked, he stated categorically that it could not possibly be that of Van der WILDE.

MICHIELS stated that the photograph somewhat resembled
Van den Ruffe, although the latter's hair was flatter.

The photograph of the woman (with two men) was also shown to MICHIELS. He said that the woman was JULIEN, whom he knew at Brussels. She professed to be working for the Todt organisation, but MICHIELS suspects that she had some connection with the S.D., as she left Brussels immediately after the arrest of JULY (REEDERCKX), and he thinks that she must have denounced JULY, as LAURENCE did not do so.

MICHIELS was introduced to JULIEN by JULY in connection with a journey the two men were to make to Paris, for which JULIEN proposed to obtain them a car by virtue of her connection with the organisation Todt. He knew her for about a fortnight, during which time he saw her every evening. He does not, however, know her by any other name.

I attach herewith a photograph of Anton van der WAALS @ de WILDE who we think may be identical with the de WILDE of the DAMEN case. The man may also be identical with van der WOUDE of the DEBRAY case. Could the photograph please be shown to DAMEN, VERLOOP, DEBRAY and LINDEMANS.

I also enclose herewith a photograph of three people, one of whom is LINDEMANS himself. Major Pinto of the Dutch Surete tells me that the woman, of whom he has no particulars whatsoever, is a German agent. Could the photograph therefore please be shown to LINDEMANS with a view to obtaining further information about the woman.

I would be most grateful if you could let me have an early reply regarding both photographs since Major Pinto is returning to the Continent at the end of the week and is most interested in both photographs.

was wrong in thinking that his safeguards were adequate. ARTAUD passed over the route as far as Lyons, and the American airman HURST was a fortnight later passed over precisely the same route, from the same safe houses.

We should be grateful for any information which LINDEMANS can give regarding the man VICTOR (whom we take to be a different man to Victor SWANE but would be grateful for confirmation of this) and GEORGES, the passeur working with VICTOR. The matter is somewhat confused as according to the Information Index at L.R.C., Victor SWANE always has a 'GEORGES' working with him.

In Sept '43, a Dutch escapee introduced to this woman, states that she claimed to be in contact with the British I.S. At the same time another informant was assisted by Miss VERSPIJK who introduced him to Jan STRINGERS (who organized an escape route) in Brussels. Both these sources 'heard' during Nov '43 when they were in Madrid, that VERSPIJK had been arrested. On 3.11.43, another escapee was introduced by Elisabeth BOON to Mrs VERSPIJK. The latter then told him that he would be sent out by a special route. On 15.11.43, same source heard that VERSPIJK had been arrested, but there was little evidence against her, and she was supposed to be going to be released. SECOND REPORT

WINKEL is quite sure that the approximate date of his first visit to Paris is February, as given in the first report. He returned to Holland on about 19.2.44 in the company of Chris LINDEMANS and Walther FURGLER. LINDEMANS actually left them in Charleroi, and WINKEL is of the opinion that he proceeded to Brussels. WINKEL and FURGLER went to The Hague.

With regard to the individuals whom WINKEL discovered had been arrested at the Hotel Montholon in Paris, WINKEL stated that there were 10 in all. They were:

With regard to LINDEMANS' luggage which had disappeared during the night from the hotel at Morsang, WINKEL stated that it had been sent to the hotel because Mrs LINDEMANS had been living there. She had not been well as she was expecting a child, but there were many rumours prevalent, including the fact that she had had a miscarriage, and also that the child had been sent to Germany.

The cover address mentioned, was care of LINDEMANS' Chris's in-law the VERMEULEN)LETUPPE's, 94 bis Avenue Jean Jaures, Ronchin, a suburb of Lille, and not No. 94B as stated in the first report.

As far as WINKEL's knowledge of LINDEMANS' movements is concerned, he states that the latter was last at the house of his in-laws, 94 bis Ave. Jean Jaures, Ronchin, during June 1944; it was on the night of the massacre at Ascq. WINKEL is quite certain of this since the Ascq incident was very much talked of, and he remembers that LINDEMANS informed him on that occasion that he, LINDEMANS, was at that moment busily engaged with the White Bridge with the transport of weapons etc, but made no reference to the fact that he was assisting other individuals at the time to escape.

The following is a description of the VERMEULEN)LETUPPE household at 94 bis Avenue Jean Jaures:

A working class home. The father, whom WINKEL only saw on one occasion, had formerly been employed at Paris Plage, and latterly at Boulogne sur Mer. Apparently the parents did not get on well together. At the house resided:

Mrs VERMEULEN-LETUPPE

Two daughters Mimi, aged 11

Jacqueline, about 14.

One son Paul

The baby of Chris LINDEMANS, whom they all called "Didi".

Dear Mark,

Prosper DE ZITTER.

Reference L.397/Belgium/6/B.1.B. of 23.11.44.

In the Interim Interrogation Report on KING KONG Appendix II(a)5, there is a mention of a Captain JACKSON. I have reason to believe that this is one of the aliases used by DE ZITTER, although it does not feature in the list of aliases on the paper about DE ZITTER which you forwarded with your letter under reference. Incidentally, this paper came from this section last May, exactly in its present form, reference RHW/(II)5/437 of 23.5.44 addressed to Miss Wadson.

The details about Captain JACKSON seem to tie up in many ways with DE ZITTER, and the blonde woman might well be MONIQUE mentioned in para. 2(f) in the list of DE ZITTER's Associates.

It is interesting to note that she lived at TILFF (four miles South of LIEGE) where DE ZITTER was reported to be about the 15th October, 1944. At that time he was reported to have been seen in the uniform of a U.S. officer travelling in a jeep with an armed bodyguard, consisting of one man also in U.S. uniform.

Yours sincerely,

(Sgd)

Subject: KING KONG.

Today, the 15.11.44, I saw William Albert de JONGE, born 9.10.05, at Almelo, who was in contact with King Kong alias Christiaan LINDERMANS. He gave me the following details about this contact:

"On the 16th September 1944 (the Saturday before the air-borne operation) I was being sent for by the Inspector of Police KOOL, who took me with him to his house at the Guido Gezelleplein. There, on the first floor, three other gentlemen were waiting for me: King Kong, an unknown police-inspector, and a certain Mr. NIENHUIS. Downstairs were some resistance people. King Kong told me that he had come through the enemy lines. An agent of the Eindhoven police who had passed the enemy lines and whom he had met in Belgium, had given to him the address of Inspector KOOL. King Kong asked KOOL whether he knew if certain persons were in safety. The reason for this question was that De VRIES' friends knew some more addresses from Captain BAKER. He asked for particulars about the following persons:

DE VRIES, second manager of Philips Works, Eindhoven.
W.A. DE JONGE, secretary of Philips, Eindhoven.
WILLEMSEN, financial manager of Philips, Eindhoven.

Nobody in the company gave any information to King Kong as they did not trust him. King Kong then asked to be taken back through the enemy lines or to be allowed to stay till the arrival of the English.

KOOL and NIENHUIS arrested King Kong without putting him in contact with anybody else. Tuesday, 19th September 1944, Captain BAKER arrived and set King Kong at liberty."

To my question how King Kong introduced himself, Mr. de JONGE answered that King Kong claimed to belong to the White Brigade and that he had the military rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He had been a student at Delft University and was a well-known person in University circles.

I asked if Mr. de VRIES had had troubles with the Gestapo before. I then heard that the German police had indeed been looking for him some months ago. They did not find him, however, as Mr. De VRIES was living in hiding in Brabant. As Mr. WOLTERSON (of Rotterdamse Bankvereniging in the Hague) heard that Berlin had sent instructions for de VRIES' arrest to the police, he warned de VRIES and advised him to leave Brabant. De VRIES then went to Amsterdam, lived there in hiding and is presumably still living there. The Gestapo have done their utmost to find him.

According to a captain in the pre-war Dutch Army, Mr. SCHOUTEN, from Breda, King Kong's photograph was published in the third edition of the "Signalementblad", an illegal paper which published particulars of Gestapo agents.

(It is obvious that LINDEMANS' dates are bad in many cases, whether this is intentional or merely due to bad memory is hard to say at present, but would be helpful to O20 if more definite dates could be ascertained from WINKEL.)

On what date did WINKEL leave for Holland with LINDEMANS and FURGLER? Where did WINKEL stay whilst back in Holland? Does WINKEL know anything more definite about the 'arrangements for further finance'?

Can WINKEL give more details about COUTINON, desc. etc. was COUTINON staying at the hotel, or from where had he appeared? How had LINDEMANS' luggage arrived at the hotel at Morseng ( he had not been with the party who originally went there)? The address 94B Ave. Jean Jaures, Ronchin near Lille, is of particular interest. LINDEMANS states that his 'in-laws' (the parents of his mistress) called VERMEULEN or LETUPPE-VERMEULEN moved to 94 bis Ave. Jean Jaures, Ronchin, in 1942. It seems likely that these addresses may be identical as Ronchin is a small place and it is unlikely that the numbers of any street should go up to 94B. The VERMEULENS were living at their address after July 1944 (approx) as LINDEMANS' mistress returned to her people after realce by the Germans, to have a baby. I cannot yet find any definite date on which LINDEMANS himself last visited 94 bis.

Can WINKEL give any details of the household? He seems to have stayed there for at least 3 months.

LINDEMANS now states that he himself was 'sheltered' by Anna van VREDENBURGH (YVONNE) during March 1944. but that sometime during April/May 1944 he denounced her to the Germans and she was arrested - who informed WINKEL, ~~ixixix~~ late as mid July, that he would have to await the return of YVONNE from a visit to Holland?

It is of interest to note that the name of Carlos WINKEL appears last on the list of people whom LINDEMANS states he 'helped to escape'.

Can WINKEL give more details about COUTINON, desc. etc. was COUTINON staying at the hotel, or from where had he appeared? How had LINDEMANS' luggage arrived at the hotel at Morsang (he had not been with the party who originally went there)? The address 948 Ave. Jean Jaures, Ronchin near Lille, is of particular interest. LINDEMANS states that his 'in-laws' (the parents of his mistress) called VERMEULEN or LETUPPE-VERMEULEN moved to 94 bis Ave. Jean Jaures, Ronchin, in 1942. It seems likely that these addresses may be identical as Ronchin is a small place and it is unlikely that the numbers of any street should go up to 948. The VERMEULENS were living at their address after July 1944 (approx) as LINDEMANS' mistress returned to her people after release by the Germans, to have a baby. I cannot yet find any definite date on which LINDEMANS himself last visited 94 bis.

Can WINKEL give any details of the household? He seems to have stayed there for at least 3 months.

LINDEMANS now states that he himself was 'sheltered' by Anna van VREDENBURGH (YVONNE) during March 1944. but that sometime during April/May 1944 he denounced her to the Germans and she was arrested - who informed WINKEL, ~~that~~ late as mid July, that he would have to await the return of YVONNE from a visit to Holland?

It is of interest to note that the name of Carlos WINKEL appears last on the list of people whom LINDEMANS states he 'helped to escape'.

Dear John,

LINDEMANS has been further interrogated regarding the mission which was given to him by Captain Baker. He was to go through the Lines and inform the chiefs of the Dutch Resistance in Eindhoven, where their headquarters were, that all were to stay quiet. Such pilots as they had in their care were not to move but to stay hidden as the Allied armies would shortly occupy the territory. No arms could be sent to them and they were to find out whether the Camp at Vught still held prisoners of the Germans. LINDEMANS believes, without knowing exactly, that Eindhoven was the HQ for the area of Noord Brabant.

LINDEMANS has also been questioned regarding persons in whom you are interested. He denied any knowledge of:

- VAN BILSEN
- DONDERS
- MUTSBAERTS
- LAUWERYSSEN
- VAN ES
- JAN VINCKE.

He had been told by ARNAUD that there were a great number of routes being used, in particular one through Moerdijk, and another through Venlo. He himself was instructed by ARNAUD to come back through north of Eindhoven. ARNAUD mentioned that he was pleased with results and that he got information from people coming through. Further, in Driebergen they were receiving information by W/T from agents in Belgium and France who had either stayed behind or worked through the lines. Numbers and precise location

LINDMANS.

1. The following information was obtained from LINDMANS during an interrogation.

2. LINDMANS reported to Lt. VANSTREYEN and Capt. OSTERUM. On a large scale map he pin-pointed all military details of which he had knowledge. These are summarized as follows:-

- Rotterdam: German fortifications surrounding the town.
- Moordijk: Mines and charges of explosive round the dykes and bridges.
- Breda: Exact emplacement of an anti-tank ditch surrounding Breda.
- Zeevang: Fortifications round the coast. (Breyskens, Dunbourg, Flushing).
- Flushing: Minefields in the water and minefields on the coast. Sand bars outside Flushing, LINDMANS indicated as a good place for landing as mines could not be laid there. At the back of Flushing, gun and mortar emplacements, camouflaged slit trenches that had been dug there.
- Breyskens)
Dunbourg) Forts between these two towns were full of water.
- He also described the dykes which link the islands of Walcheren and Sud Beveland to the mainland.
- Bergen op Zoom: He also gave information on the road from Antwerp to Bergen op Zoom, and on a certain stronghold at Marzen which barred the way and was strongly fortified.
- Poppel: Information on the woods at Poppel where tanks were hidden and dug in.
- Veulo/Togalen: He pin-pointed munition depots and stores in the area of Veulo/Togalen which is in Limbourg. Also fortifications along the roads leading into Germany and in Germany itself.
- Flooding: He described in detail such parts of Holland as were flooded and such parts as could be flooded.
- Bieswangen: He also showed where he knew of troops of the S.S. Polizei Division situated Bieswangen, between Utrecht and Amboer, and next to them troops of the S.S. Adolf Hitler Division in the same locality.

3. These details LINDSAY has given us form the greater part of the information which he provided in yet greater detail on large scale maps.
4. LINDSAY stated that he thought that Ident. VERSTRECHEN was the Intelligence Officer for the First Canadian Special Forces; that he was mainly interested in the area of Holland bounded by The Hague, Bittersum, Breda, Antwerp, Zeeland and the sea. This information recorded was for use in future operations.
5. LINDSAY sticks to the story that he had finally severed his connections with the Germans before providing these details.
