REMARKS	To be employed as an agent. Commencing 18.5.42.

Born 5.42.
Report from Sgt. Holland S.T.S. 52 7.8.42.
33F 2 went sick on 3.8.42., was examined by M.O.
at Rycote Park, was sent to Oxford for further diagnosis and thence to hospital at Netley.

Report on scheme at Newcastle 25-29.9.42.

House: Mrs. Kinnersley, The Red House, Stockfield.

General Impression:

The standard of this student's work on his last scheme was far below normal. He has done better work on this scheme, but there is still room for improvement. His manner is impetuous and hasty, and he is easily ruffled. He is however keen and willing to learn.

Security

His attitude towards security in general conversation has much improved. On no occasion did he have to be reproved for indiscreet chatter.

Sz Report on scheme at Newcastle 11 - 15.9.42.

CSM Cripps & Sgt. Stebbing-Allen to Major Lee

House: Mrs. Agus, Bellevue Bank, Lowefell.

General Impression:

The Student, with one exception, has been bad on all schemes. He has no imagination and very little common sense. He was unable to adapt himself to the circumstances under which he was working - that of being in Holland. Little thought was applied to the Schemes. He tried hard enough and readily admitted his faults but seemed unable to apply sufficient intelligence to rectify his faults ~~XXXXXXXXXXXX~~ The student is very unhappy with his efforts and is eager to be given another week of security. It is doubtful whether this would bring him to the standard required.

Security

The student's security with regard to conversation in public places was not good. On several occasions it was necessary to warn him against talking about his set and the success of transmitting and receiving. However, his security was good so far as the disposal of set and papers were concerned.

there until he was 15, when his parents returned to Velzen, Holland, where he went to school at the H.N.S. for three years.

This was followed by two years at the Seaman's School at Amsterdam and on the 2.10.38 he went to sea on the s.s. "ALBERTUS" of the Ver.Ned.SOERHVAAT Mij. as apprentice mate, making a single trip to Australia, returning to Rotterdam on the 7.2.39.

2. On the 12.3.39 he was signed on as apprentice Mate in the s.s. "ROOSELUK" of the same Company, sailing to India (BRITISH) returning the 8.7.39 and repeating the voyage 21.7.39, returning to Rotterdam 10.12.39.

5. Having now done his complete sailing time he was able to return to the Seaman's School at Amsterdam and obtained his diploma for Third Mate on the 22.5.40, having been at home during the invasion days.

4. Although he was not particularly keen, he declares that as he did not want to be sent to GEBBUI to work he then took up wireless study at the Seaman's School at Amsterdam and he was still there at the time of his departure from Holland in the "KATHRIJK II".

5. He knew both STOL and STALP (at N.V.P.O. No. 6693) from school days and they approached him and together with VIGHE it was arranged that he should come along with them in case the crew of the "KATHRIJK II" proved to be unwilling.

6. As already described in STALP's report he assisted in getting others on board and confirms that the name of the policeman was KERSWITZ.

7. There is not a great deal to this young man's story and, although he is very pleased to be here, he actually says, he quite frankly admits, to assist in the escape in case of emergency, as already mentioned.

Indies and has obviously led a sheltered life.

9. He is keen to assist the war effort on behalf of the ALLIES in the best possible manner, although he says he would prefer to be in the Air Force rather than the Merchant Marine.

10. From the security point of view this man, in my opinion, is quite harmless.

RECOMMENDATION.

11. He should be released to the Dutch Authorities.
